

THE UNIVERSITY of LIVERPOOL

Liverpool Human Geography Seminars 2003

- January 30    Kevin Ward            University of Manchester
Cities and actually existing neoliberalism
- February 6    Dimitris Ballas        University of Leeds
Spatial microsimulation for urban, regional and social policy analysis
- February 13   Ben Fine                School for Oriental and Asian Studies (TBC)
The myth of social capital
- February 20   Mark o'Brien        University of Liverpool
Labour internationalism and Globalisation
- February 27   Danny Dorling        University of Leeds
The medical geography of despair, inequity and hope
- March 6        Richard Thomas      University of Manchester
Estimating the impact of HIV/AIDS interventions In Europe
- March 13      Eric Swyngedouw    University of Oxford
Towards a new Leviathan? Glocalisation and the contested politics of scale.
- March 20      Jon Oldfield            Queen Mary, University of London
The intellectual and/or political construction of environmentalism in Russia.
- March 27      Alena Ledeneva        School for Slavonic and East European Studies
Russia's Barter Economy
- April 3        Claire Mercer        University of Leicester
Performing partnership: civil society and the illusions of good governance in Tanzania
- April 10       Keith Halfacree        University of Wales, Swansea
Untying migration completely: de-gendering or radical transformation?

All seminars take place on Thursdays, 1pm in 5th Floor Board Room, Roxby Building